

SPAIN TRAVEL 2007 – GOLF COURSE INFORMATION GIRONA

The Girona/Costa Brava region is one of the most beautiful areas of Catalonia in Spain and probably the whole of Spain. Located 55 miles north of Barcelona, in the north east corner of the country, its coast is lapped by the crystal waters of the Mediterranean and its interior overlooked by the spectacular and mighty Pyrenees. Golf in the Costa Brava is second to none and it has received the distinction of being the world's best emerging golf destination. The area around Girona features at least 9 golf courses, three of them within 10 miles of EuroCycler's camp site. One of these three is the PGA Catalunya Golf Course. This course was voted one of the ten best golf courses in Europe in 2001 by Golf World magazine and one of its writers, Steve Carr, described it as the 'jewel in the crown'. It truly is a stunning course with the Pyrenees as a backdrop, which only adds to the magic. PGA Catalunya golf course was designed by Neil Coles and Angel Gallardo and after only opening at the end of 1998, has already hosted the Sarazen World Open in 1999 and the Spanish Open in 2000.

The three courses closest to the EuroCycler camp are described here in more details, further information and course photos can be obtained from the following websites: www.golfspain.com, www.golfeurope.com and www.barcelonagolf.com.
